

Unethical Practices

Have you heard of reparative or conversion therapy?

Have you encountered any of these unethical practices in your clinical communities?

Reflections after reading article on psychological distress caused by reparative/conversion therapy:

Something to think about: Are there places in your clinical communities where you would be able to offer clarity around incorrect information?